All of Us Or None is a national organizing initiative of prisoners, former prisoners and felons, to combat the many forms of discrimination that we face as the result of felony convictions. After serving time in torturous conditions, we were met at the gate with prejudice and discrimination that made our re-entry into society difficult and in some cases impossible. Many of us recognize that our prison sentence never ends as long as the discrimination against us continues.

It's OUR responsibility to stop the discrimination, and to change the public policies that discriminate against us, our families, and our communities.

What's Up This Month?

Sudoku puzzles (what is the correct spelling of that?), plus a couple of crossword puzzles and jokes out the rear end. Dr. Wolf is back this month, plus a couple of new resources on the back page. Had a request for Ghost information and some other special items.

We'll be gone during the month to travel to California and we are trying to schedule a trip to Ohio to check on operations up there. Hopefully, we'll have some great news next month.

Glad you joined us and have a good month.

Real Age Benefits

The Ties that Bind

Can you name three close friends that you see regularly? If you can't, you're not alone.

Twenty years ago, each American had about three close confidants; today, we average about two. That doesn't bode well for long-term health and well-being. Is your world getting smaller? Give -- and get -- the gift of friendship this year. Grab a plate of goodies, head next door, and say, "Hi."

RealAge Benefit: Having a good social support system of family and friends can make your RealAge up to 3.5 years younger.

Our Body is a basic Battery that does work by DC Voltage. When the voltage or conductivity is low then a person has depression. When there is a misfire of voltage a person has a heart attack. This DC Voltage works on a chemical break down in a chemical catalyst reaction. All of this only supports the Biological Matrix or container, not the wavelength of psyche. The Bio-matrix Grid only grounds the psyche or Quantum Field from displacement, with out this we would not need our bio-matrix human form at all. This wavelength is maintained by combination of the Bio-matrix and a Quantum harmonic energy frequency.

Hammond Postulate: Related species that are similar in energy are also similar in structure. The structure of a transition state resembles the structure of the closest stable species.

When the biological container stops containing or grounding the Quantum field energy. The Energy is released into its natural form. All Species that are similar in energy are also similar in structure, therefore all species are the same and stable in their own quantitative dimension.

The Alpha wavelength is set in a Quantum Field Effect and obeys the basic laws of the 3rd dimension this is why they are round and not flat. Also the 4th dimension, the same as neutrinos and microwaves able to pass through an object and not lose speed or wavelength.

If one Ghost is found with other Ghosts, or one Entity is found with other Entities than they must, contain the same structure, energy and wavelength. The closest stable species is a Bio-matrix Field Container with a stabilized Quantum Field Effect . (which is electrochemically alive)

Meanwhile, How Are Things?

Things are great in Texas, kind of cool and at times snowy, but I can't complain. I am getting caught up on mail and other duties and planning on trips to California in February to attend a Stop Prison Rape Meeting and hopefully do some 'glad handing' the troops.

In Ohio, we are constantly meeting with 'money folks' who can bankroll some of our pet projects. Everyone has ideas how to run the projects but no one wants to step up to the base and contribute the big bucks necessary to get things off the ground. But, we aren't discouraged and aren't slowing down. We meet with potential donors every week and make dozens of calls week to set up appointments.

Meanwhile, we are moving forward on all fronts and making new contacts. But, we can't do this without your help, if you have a favorite contact who'd like to help out or if you think you know someone who's able to help, please pass our name on to them, we don't mind. We gladly accept help and always look forward to meeting new people and making new contacts.

Something has crossed my mind and I want to run it past you, if you think it's worth pursuing, let me know. If you think it's a waste of time, let me know that also. But, according to those who keep track of such things, it's been stated that each incarcerated person (you) touches 35 lives in the free world, weather they are family, friends, others, you touch 35 lives on the outside. Is it possible to tap into those resources and maybe develop a 'political action' group to form a political voting bloc? Imagine the power of having 70 million voters registered and voting? Even if you only connected with 5 registered voters outside, that's still 10 million votes. Is it worth pursuing or just a pipe dream? Let me know. Think we could get some attention? Think it over and let me know what you think?

Other than that, I have to get back into things, I have the family to entertain this week and then I have to get ready for my road trip to California. Remember to refer a friend, we need all the subscribers we can get. Hey, we are dirt cheap and we smile a lot.

See you next month, in the fight !!

A guy had burned both his ears... so they were asking him at the hospital how it happened.

He said, "I was ironing my clothing and the phone rang...so instead of the phone I picked up the iron and burned my ear..."

"But how the heck did you burn the other ear?" The doctor asked. "How do you think I called you people?"

How to Solve Sudoku Puzzles

Crosshatching - finding squares for numbers.

The obvious way to solve a sudoku puzzle is to find the right numbers to go in the squares. However the best way to start is the other way round - finding the right squares to hold the numbers.

This uses a technique called 'crosshatching', which only takes a couple of minutes to learn. It can solve many 'easy' rated puzzles on its own.

4				2	8	3
	8		1	4			2
7		6		8		5
1				7			5
2	7		5				1
	3		9	4			6
		8		9		7	5
3			8		6		9
	4	2	7				3

Crosshatching works in boxes (the 3 X 3 square subdivisions of the grid). Look at the top-left box of our sample puzzle (outlined in blue). It has five empty squares. All the numbers from 1 to 9 must appear in the box, so the missing numbers are 1,2,3,5 and 9.

We'll ignore 1 for a moment (because it doesn't provide a good example!), and see if we can work out which square the missing 2 will go into.

To do this, we'll use the fact that a number can only appear once in any row or column. We start by looking across the rows that run through this box, to see if any of them already contain a 2. Here's the result:

4				2	8	3
	8		1	4			2
7		6		8		5
1				7			5
2	7		5				1
	3		9	4			6
		8		9		7	5
3			8		6		9
	4	2	7				3

Bingo! The first two rows already contain 2s, which means that squares in those rows can't possibly contain the 2 for this box. That's all we need to know, because the third row only has one empty square, so that must be the home for the 2.

Now let's see if we can place the 3 for this box. This time we end up checking the columns that run down through the box, as well as the rows that run across it:

4				2	8	3
	8	3	1	4			2
7	2	6		8		5
1				7			5
2	7		5				1
	3		9	4			6
		8		9		7	5
3			8		6		9
	4	2	7				3

Again, we get a result first time - there's only one empty square that the 3 can possibly go into. You can see from this example why it's called 'crosshatching' - the lines from rows and columns outside the square criss-cross each other. Of course you don't always get a result first time. Here's what happens when we try to place the 5:

4				2	8	3
	8	3	1	4			2
7	2	6		8		5
1				7			5
2	7		5				1
	3		9	4			6
		8		9		7	5
3			8		6		9
	4	2	7				3

There's only one 5 already in the rows and columns that run through this box. That leaves three empty squares as possible homes for the 5. For the time being, this box's 5 (and its 1 and 9) have to remain unsolved.

4				2	8	3
	8	3	1	4			2
7	2	6		8		5
1				7			5
2	7		5				1
	3		9	4			6
		8		9		7	5
3			8		6		9
	4	2	7				3

Here we're crosshatching for 3, the first missing number in this box. Note how we treat the 3 we placed in the first box as if it had been pre-printed on the puzzle. We still can't place this box's 3 though, so we'll move on to the next missing number (5), and so on. Page 13

A husband and wife are on a nudist beach when suddenly a wasp buzzes into the wife's business end. Naturally enough, she panics. The husband is also quite shaken but manages to put a coat on her, pull up his shorts and carries her to the car. Then he makes a mad dash to the doctor. The doctor, after examining her, says that the wasp is too far in to remove with forceps so he says to the husband that he will have to try and entice it out by putting honey on his dick and withdrawing as soon as he feels the wasp. And so the honey is smeared, but because of his wife's screaming and his frantic dash to the doctor and the general panic, he just can't rise to the occasion. So the doctor says he'll perform the deed if the husband and wife don't object. Naturally both agree for fear the wasp will do any damage, so the doctor quickly undresses, smears the honey on and instantly gets an erection, at which time he begins to plug the wife. Only he doesn't stop and withdraw but continues with vigor. The husband shouts, "What the hell's happening?" To which the doctor replies, "Change of plan. I'm going to drown the little bastard!"

A little girl came running into the house bawling her eyes out and cradling her hand: "Mummy, quick! Get me a glass of cider!" she wailed. "Why do you want a glass of cider?" asked her mom.
 "I cut my hand on a thorn, and I want the pain to go away!"
 Confused, but weary of the child's whining, the mother obliged and poured her a glass of cider. The little girl immediately dunked her hand in it.
 "Ouch! It still hurts! This cider doesn't work!" she whined.
 "What are you talking about?" asked her increasingly perplexed parent, "What ever made you think that cider would ease your pain?"
 "Well, I overheard my big sister say that whenever she gets a prick in her hand, she can't wait to get it in cider"

A farmer is in the local bar getting drunk. After a few pints the barman asks "Why are you here on this beautiful day getting drunk?"
 "Well if you must know" the farmer replies "I was milking my cow and just as the I got the bucket full she took her left leg and kicked it over"
 "Whats the big deal?" said the barman "Well I took her left leg and tied it to the post on the left with some rope. Then I sat down and continued to milk her. Just as the bucket was about full she took her right leg and kicked it over"
 "So what did you do then?" asked the barman. "I took her right leg and tied it to the post on the right. Then I sat back down and continued to milk her. Then just as I had got the bucket about full the stupid cow knocked the bucket over with her tail."
 "So then what did you do?" asked the barman. "Well I didn't have any rope left so I took off my belt and tied her tail to the rafter. And then my trousers fell down just as my wife walked in....."

The priest then knocks on the wall three times in a final attempt to get the man to speak. Finally, the drunk replies: "No use knockin' mate, there's no paper in this one either.

Dr. Wolf is "In" with Wisdumb of the Month

Greetings my sinister band of readers. I come once again to harass your sense of normalcy. My dear readers, have you ever wondered what it truly is to "think outside the box"?

I have recently discovered that actually living this creed is dangerous and a real eye opener. This observance came to me upon my entering a writing contest. A cultural essay contest to be specific. When it comes to matters of intellect I am most competitive, so I agreed to enter immediately. The first step was the obvious choosing of a culture. Here is where I began my thinking "outside the box" strategy.

People are so predictable, a third of the competition did theirs on an Indian tribe. This was obvious, being that Indians are a non-offensive subject and a respected peoples. For some reason, the subject also brings admiration from the outside. People are still impressed when I tell them of my Cherokee blood. I never fought for my land or went on a vision quest, I don't know why they would admire DNA that I had no control over. Therefore, yes, Indians were the obvious choice for many.

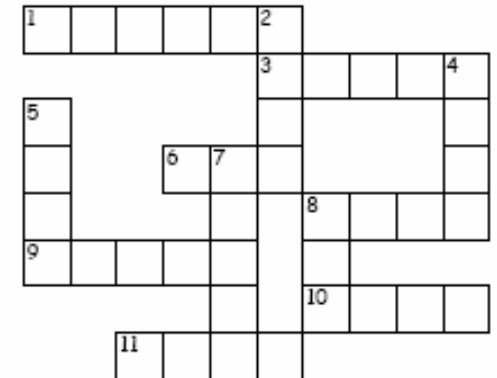

As you may have expected, there were also those who just had to incorporate a religious theme. Because of the definition of culture is very broad, they were able to get away with this, people just cannot leave religion out of a good thing.

Because my opponents were Mr. Obious and Joe Typical, I knew that I had to be unique and creative instead of plagiarizing Encyclopedia Britannica. In thinking outside of the box, why not choose a people who actually thought that way themselves. I settled on the Hippie Sub Culture of the 1960's.

My essay on the traditions of the Hippie Culture may be some of the greatest works of the Doctor yet. Yes, I took things to another level of thought. Yes, I stood out from the rest of them, and yes, I lost. I lost terribly. I took the loss with a smile, knowing that the programmed minds of the judges could not appreciate the beauty and significance of it all.

I knew I wouldn't win, and yet I wanted to so badly. For people like me (us), our art is not continued next column,, sugar coated. Therefore, we will always be ex-communicated from "the box". Whoever you are, I for one am still, Dr. Wolf and this has been your Wisdumb of the Month.

These are true words, everyday I run into "the mainstream" people, who immediately question and wonder why I expend so much effort into my friends and acquaintances. These are lawyers, judges, assistance type people, who are suppose to care, but don't be fooled for a minute, "it's not about the programs, it's about the money". They can't fool me - lie to me maybe but they can't fool me - it's all about the money! Now, if only I can figure out how to get my share! Ha.Ha.

Wisconsin Inmates Need Info

Heads up, "we" need some information, I got a letter from some Wisconsin Inmates who need some good information or direction.

The problem is "they" are allowed table radios, which require external antennas. Problem is 'amplified antennas' are easy to find but are not allowed. What we need to know is where can we order "passive non-amplified antennas"? The catch being, a company that will mail them out, Radio Shack has them but does not mail out electronics'.

So if any has an answer please get back with me as soon as possible and I'll have a gift for the first three responses. Where can inmates order 'passive non amplified antennas'? Get back to me, ASAP, Uncle Roy

Dr. Wisdumb is back, look for his new column in this month's issue. Plus, we still have room if you want to contribute something.

" Hi, honey, I'm home. Why am I early on what used to be my bowling night? Good question. Thank you for asking. Well, as I entered the bowling alley for a night of bonding, brewskies and barfing, what did I see? Women... bowling... over hand. So naturally, I went up to one of these donut depositories and said in my nicest voice, ' Wedge it out the door, beef load. It's my night to bowl.' But, instead of coming back at me verbally like I did to them, they took their doughy fists and pounded on me until a mutual agreement was reached that I leave. Anyway, when I regained consciousness in a burning trashcan I realized: A, Thursday nights is now ladies' night and, B, you don't want to know how a bum puts out a trashcan fire." -Al Bundy

A cat dies and goes to Heaven. God meets him at the gate and says, "You've been a good cat all of these years. Anything you desire is yours, all you have to do is ask."

The cats says, "Well, I lived all my life with a poor family on a farm and had to sleep on hardwood floors." God says, "Say no more." And instantly, a fluffy pillow appears. A few days later, 6 mice are killed in a tragic accident and they go to Heaven. God meets them at the gate with the same offer that He made the cat.

The mice said, "All our lives we've had to run. We've been chased by cats, dogs and even women with brooms. If we could only have a pair of roller skates, we wouldn't have to run anymore." God says, "Say no more." And instantly, each mouse is fitted with a beautiful pair of tiny roller skates.

About a week later, God decides to check and see how the cat is doing. The cat is sound asleep on his new pillow. God gently wakes him and asks,

"How are you doing? Are you happy here?"

The cat yawns and stretches and says, "Oh, I've never been happier in my life. And those Meals on Wheels you've been sending over are the best!"

Alleged robber delivered to police station

A Milwaukee robbery victim delivered one of his alleged assailants to a police station after he demanded to be given more money. The victim, a man who was rear-ended while driving in the early hours Sunday, was forced to cart three men from the offending vehicle around town to visit automated teller machines so he could give them money, the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel reported Monday. The man said two of the robbers vanished after taking a total $400 from two ATM visits but the third demanded more money, so the victim told him of "another machine on North Avenue," the newspaper said. Police said the victim pulled up to 2333 N. 49th St., better known as the District 3 Police Station and informed the assailant to remain in the car. The victim went inside and five minutes later police arrested the alleged robber, the Journal Sentinel reported. Police were seeking two other suspects Monday.

Police Call For Stolen Underwear Reports

PORTSMOUTH, England, Police in the British city of Portsmouth are asking any women who have had their underwear stolen recently to contact authorities immediately. The unusual request comes after Portsmouth police arrested a 40-year-old man who allegedly has been stealing underwear from area wash lines, Sky News reported. "Police would like to hear from any women in the Portsmouth area who have recently had any clothing stolen from their washing lines or in similar circumstances," a police spokeswoman said. The man, who is out on bail until April 26, was recently stopped by police and was found to be carrying a large number of women's underwear and other clothing.

Think Like a Winner

Wherever you find yourself, you are going to be faced with problems and opportunities, and they are both, in fact, two sides of the same coin. Both will always be present in your life no matter in what direction you steer yourself, however, you choose what to focus on, and this in the end will grow in your consciousness and become your world, a haven or a nightmare.

Outside Connection Inc. 211 North Grove Street Berlin, NJ 08009

We at Outside Connection know the cost of collect calls from the correctional facilities is placing a huge burden on friends and families' finances. Trying to speak with a loved one has become so costly, it is almost impossible to afford now. Others are charging this extra money to your friends and families as a way to subsidize the costs of running their business. Point blank, it is a penalty on them, because they can get away with it. What we do is use technology to circumvent these extremely high collect costs. We are a telecom company that was designed and opened for the purpose of LOWERING the rates your people incur for speaking to you. We do not touch the facility phone systems. We do nothing against the rule of law. The state can NOT tell friends and families how to have their telecommunication services provided. Your loved ones have done nothing wrong and thus, they are free to use the company of their choice. Have your friends or family call us at 1-800-270-8810, we can LOWER the collect rates they pay. Within 48 hours, the costs they pay will be lowered to a NORMAL rate. We at Outside Connection are fighting hard for everyone's rights. We are at the FCC fighting for YOU! I think I have found my "new" calling in life, I'm going to send in applications for the "Sex Police" jobs in some of these cities. The only one I have a problem with is being in an Ambulance, I think if I were in an Ambulance, I'd have more important things on my mind than sex, like "living" another day or two. And how do I know if I'm a pig or not?

Man Arrested for Bush Beating

HILTON ISLAND, S.C. A man was charged with public disorderly conduct in Hilton Island, S.C. after being observed "in a physical confrontation with shrubs" by a deputy. The Beaufort County Detention Center's online log said the 23-year-old man, whose name was not released, smelled of alcohol and was taken to the detention center to await prosecution, the Hilton Head Island Packet reported. The deputy that took the man in said he was responding to a complaint the man had attempted to get into someone else's car. When the deputy arrived on the scene the man allegedly had moved on to beating the vegetation. The police report said the man ran across the street to get in one last kick on a bush before talking to police.

I guess we should add this one to the list, Hilton Head, SC: Against the law to abuse shrubbery while intoxicated.

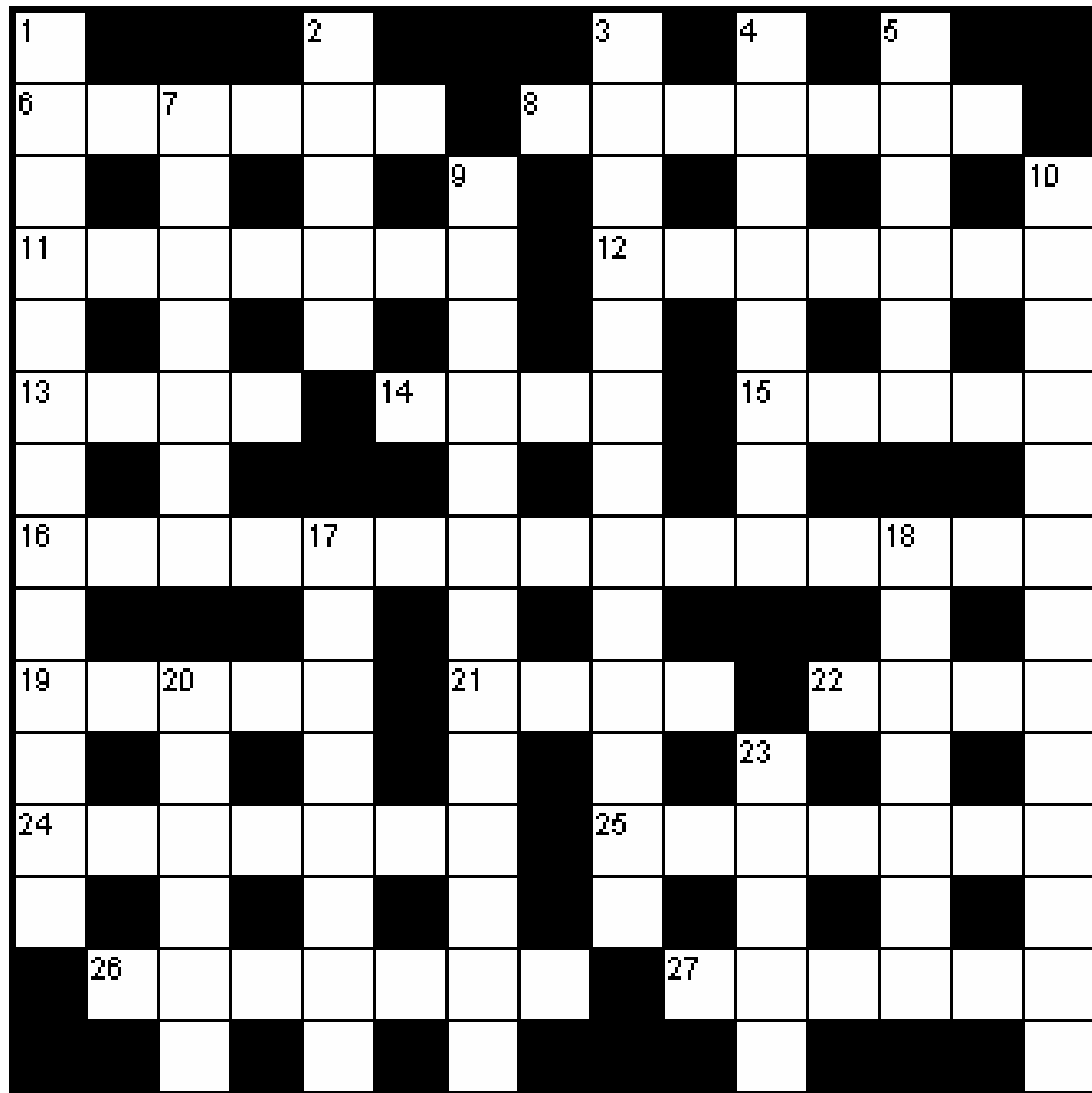

Where Does The Hamburger Call Home?

MADISON, Wis. - State lawmakers in Texas and Wisconsin are engaged in a flame-broiled debate over the origin of the hamburger. Republican Texas Rep. Betty Brown has cooked up a resolution to officially declare Athens, Texas, as the birthplace of the popular sandwich, USA Today reported Thursday. "It's not just our claim and what we say," she said. The history "is very well documented." However, Wisconsin Rep.

Tom Nelson, a Democrat, has thrown his own resolution on the grill, declaring the town of Seymour, Wis., as the official home of the hamburger. "Seymour is the hamburger capital, period," he said. There has long been disagreement over the origins of the fast food staple. At least two other cities, Akron, Ohio, and New Haven, Conn., have laid claim to being the birthplace of the burger. Nelson claims a man by the name of "Hamburger Charlie" Nagreen unveiled the first hamburger at an 1885 county fair in Wisconsin, while Brown attributes the invention to a man named Fletcher Davis who distributed hamburgers in the 1880s in Texas.

I beginning to think our elected officials have nothing to do

Please note that in this puzzle, the enumerations do not reflect multi-word entries. In other words, answers are enumerated as the total number of letters (#) and are not broken down into individual words, e.g. (#, #). However, multi-word entries are indicated by an asterisk *. This makes the task of the solver more challenging but I think that enumerating the phrases would make the answers too easy to deduce.

Lori, the pert and pretty Nurse took her troubles to a resident psychiatrist in the hospital where she worked.

'Doctor, you must help me.' she pleaded. 'It's gotten so that every time I date one of the young doctors here, I end up in bed with him. And then afterward, I feel guilty and depressed for a week.'

'I see.' nodded the psychiatrist. 'And you, no doubt, want me to strengthen your will power and resolve in this matter.' 'For God's sake, NO !!!' exclaimed the Nurse. 'I want you to fix it so I won't feel guilty and depressed afterward.'

Woman: So, how's it going with the ladies?

Man: Women to me are sex objects.

Woman: Really?

Man: Sure. Whenever I mention sex, they object.

A guy walks in and sits down at a bar. The side of his face is bruised and bleeding so the bartender asks, 'What in the world happened to you, buddy?' The guy says 'Oh, I got in a fight with my girlfriend and I called her a two-bit whore.' 'Yeah,' says the bartender. 'What did she do?' 'She hit me with her bag of quarters!' Page 7
