Want some informative, useful mail? Send WON, a large SASE along with 6 f/c stamps and I promise you won't be disappointed. This publication comes highly recommended from TSOT and me personally. It has tons of stuff and very good stuff I might add. Plus, they plug us each month and I'm returning the favor. So, drop them a line and tell them TSOT sent you, you'll be glad you did. They do get behind at times, so have a little patience with them. Thanks.

All Or None of Us
1540 Market St. Ste 490
San Francisco, CA 94102

All of Us Or None is a national organizing initiative of prisoners, former prisoners and felons, to combat the many forms of discrimination that we face as the result of felony convictions. After serving time in torturous conditions, we were met at the gate with prejudice and discrimination that made our re-entry into society difficult and in some cases impossible. Many of us recognize that our prison sentence never ends as long as the discrimination against us continues.

It's OUR responsibility to stop the discrimination, and to change the public policies that discriminate against us, our families, and our communities.

UFO's – Dreams – Paranormal

I am a "Certified Dream Analyst" and "Paranormal Investigator" interested in anything and everything about UFO's, ghost and the unexplained. I'm also a needlework designer that loves to putter in the flower garden. Be Warned! I am a full blown "Parrot Head" and follow Jimmy Buffett's music on a daily basis. Throw in a little NASCAR and that pretty well completes the picture. Would love to hear from others with similar interest.

Meanwhile How Are Things

Hey, gang, it's been a long month and I appreciate all the letters and prayers. I got several letters wanting MHAT's moved back to the front page, last month was more of a space issue than an editorial issue, so we are back on the front page.

We have been in negotiations with the ACLU of Texas to speak before the Legislators this month. We have some meetings in the State of Maine coming up, but "they" asked us not to say anything before it's finalized. So, we are making inroads.

The bad news is postage rates are going up 2 cents (probably before June). So, as a word of warning, if you renew or add to your subscription before then, you'll avoid a rate increase. With last months 2 cents per page increase and the postage increase of 2 cents, it's going to dig deep into our budget. But, we'll still be the best bargain at mail call every month. We are looking at increasing size and taking on "advertisement" to supplement our efforts. But, we'll do what is best for you.

We are meeting with Grant Donors this week in Ohio and Pennsylvania, release dates are March 8 and 15th. Which will really help us pick up speed.

Plus we still in negotiations on going color, but with the postage increase that may delay that, but we are working on it. So stay tuned, we change all the time.

That's all the room for this month and we'll be talking to you soon. We read and appreciate all letters and family inquiries. Thanks.

COWS DINE BETTER THAN MOST STEAK-EATERS

Steaks from Waygu cattle in western Australia were already revered by gourmets worldwide (noted for their marbling), but recently an exporter went a step further: The choice grains fed the cattle are now being soaked in a 2004 cabernet merlot, according to a January dispatch from Sydney in London's Sunday Telegraph. "Our biggest problem is going to be meeting demand," said the managing director of Margaret River Premium Meat Exports, even though the best cuts of steak might run the equivalent of about US$90. Plans are to feed each cow a liter's worth of wine daily during its last 60 days.

Real Age Benefits
Stress Caused by Too Much Time

Why do humans and their primate cousins get more stress-related diseases than any other member of the animal kingdom? The answer, says Stanford University neuroscientist Robert Sapolsky, is that people, apes and monkeys are highly intelligent, social creatures with far too much spare time on their hands. So, they worry about things they have no control over. Get a hobby, walk, do something to occupy yourself.

RealAge Benefit: Controlling the stress in your life can make your RealAge 6-8 years younger.

Prison Break Spoilers

(Be Warned, there is some information concerning FOX's Prison Break Drama, if you don't want to know, don't read)

February 26 Episode #2.18

T-Bag meets with psychiatrist Eric Stammel. Of course, T-Bag has an evil plan in the back of his mind, especially since Stammel and he look a bit alike. After pouring his heart out to the shrink, T-Bag gets to business so he can "play doctor." Michael and Lincoln meet with a man who supposedly knew their father. The man claims he wants to help them get a tape to a judge. Michael grills the man a bit to ensure he is the real thing... Later, Sara tries to locate the brothers... Kellerman visits his sister Kristine who works for a Greenpeace-type organization. They talk about their lovely family. The brothers have a tape with the President's and Steadman's voices on it. But when they properly analyze the tape, it's clear it can't help them as much as they first thought. A little brainstorming will have Sara, Michael and Lincoln change gears and aim at the President.

March 5 Episode #2.19

In Chicago, Michael has an encounter with President Reynolds (Patricia Wettig), and Sara has one with Mahone while C-Note performs his part of the bargain with Mahone. At the Mexico City airport, Bellick spots T-Bag while on his way to track down Sucre. As Kellerman prepares for an assassination, Michael is determined to confront the President and expose her secrets recorded on the audiotape. Mahone plays a tense waiting game with Sarah. T-Bag's lost luggage may prove a windfall for Bellick and Sucre. C-Note's drastic actions leave him hanging.

March 12 Episode #2.20

T-Bag wants more and more of Chi Chi pretending to be Susan so he offers her more money. She is quite creeped out but agrees to if he pays upfront. This doesn't please T-Bag and actually kills the mood for him. What will T-Bag do to mood-breaker Chi Chi?

March 19 Episode#2.27

Sara is in court where she is on trial. Her senior counsel, a man named Marty Gregg, wants to use a tape as evidence but the prosecutor objects as he claims that it is the propaganda tape Michael and Lincoln released to the press and that it was debunked. The lawyer tries to desperately have this tape play as it will exonerate Sara. Will Sara pay for having left the door unlocked and helping Michael and Lincoln in the last few weeks?

General News and Information

Series creator Paul Scheuring also told me that a new female series regular will be added to the cast next season. "She is Michael's equal in terms of intelligence," he revealed of the not-yet-cast newbie. "And she would seem to be coming down on the side of good initially, but there will be questions about whether that's a facade. And she'll be a love interest for one of our characters." Scheuring also spilled that "90 percent" of the conspiracy will (thankfully) be wrapped up by the end of this season. "The audience will definitely get closure. It'll feel like this is the endgame of the story, and yet there will be a few unanswered questions."

Prison Break creator Paul Scheuring told me so himself. "We wouldn't kill [Sarah Wayne Callies' character] off for having a child," he says. "We're planning on going forward with her in the series, because she's one of our strongest components." Scheuring also ruled out incorporating the pregnancy into the show. Instead, he and his fellow producers are devising "creative ways" to account for Sara's disappearance this fall. (Callies is due in late summer, just as production on the anticipated third season gets underway.) "It actually fits into what we were already planning," says the exec, who would neither confirm nor deny that Sara would be the victim of yet another kidnapping. "We definitely have creative work-arounds to account for her character being MIA. We would have explanations for why she wasn't in the first batch of episodes." Paul Scheuring also teased that Season 3 would feature "a different storytelling process" that will begin to "play out in the last couple episodes of Season 2" and "leave some cliff-hangers, including one with Sara." Although mum on specifics, he says the new conceit will involve bringing "some of the surviving members of the gang back together," in addition to introducing several new faces. "In the model of Lethal Weapon, where in every subsequent sequel they had a new participant, we're going to be doing that as well. We brought in Mahone for Season 2, and we plan on adding one or two major new characters/actors for Season 3." Does that mean my buddy William Fichtner's days are numbered? "Let's just put it this way: We're very, very happy with Bill Fichtner." Page 2

Jeff the Bellboy

Three couples got married and spent their honeymoons at the same hotel, where they were all attended to by Jeff the Bellboy.

The first man married a nurse.

Jeff showed them to their room, all the while thinking to himself, "Lucky guy! Nurses are known to be hot to trot."

The second man married a telephone operator.

Jeff showed them to their room, while thinking to himself, "Wow, he's one lucky dude. Telephone operators have such sexy voices and once you pop that top button.. Va-voom."

The third man married a school teacher.

Jeff showed them to their room and thought to himself, "Poor sap. She may be pretty, but teachers are way too frigid."

At 5:30 the following morning, Jeff reported to work. He expected the teacher's husband to call for breakfast any minute, but was sure the other two wouldn't call until much later in the day.

The phone rang at 6 a.m. and it was the nurse's husband wanting breakfast. Jeff took breakfast up to the room and when the husband opened the door, Jeff stepped back in shock. The man's pajamas were still pressed and his hair nicely combed.

"Sir, what happened?" asked Jeff. "You married a nurse."

"Son, don't ever marry a nurse," the man sourly replied. "All I heard last night was Her nagging voice saying, 'You're not sanitary, you're not sanitary'."

The phone rang again at 6:30 a.m. and this time it was the telephone operator's husband calling for breakfast. Jeff took it to the room as quickly as possible. When the man opened the door, Jeff stepped back in shock. The man's hair was neatly combed and his pajamas nicely pressed.

"What happened?" Jeff asked with surprise. "Telephone operators as supposed to be as sexy as their voices."

"Son, don't ever marry a telephone operator," the man groaned. "All I heard last night was Her nasal voice saying, 'Your three minutes are up, your three minutes are up'."

Jeff returned to his desk, sure that the teacher's husband would be calling at any moment.

Finally, at 4 p.m., the teacher's husband called for breakfast. Jeff couldn't believe it, but quickly took the breakfast to the couple's room. When the man opened the door, Jeff stepped back in shock. The man was wearing only a pair of boxers, his hair was a mess, and there were scratches all over his chest, arms and legs.

"My goodness sir, what happened to you?" Jeff asked, fearing the worst. "Did you have a fight?"

The man, grinning from ear to ear, happily replied, "No. Son, when you marry be sure it's to a school teacher. All I heard last night was Her sexy, smooth voice saying, 'We're going to do this over, and over, and over again, until we get it right'."

First Grade Conservative Republican

A first grade teacher explains to her class that she is a liberal Democrat. She asks her students to raise their hands if they were liberal Democrats too. Not really knowing what a liberal Democrat was, but wanting to be like their teacher, their hands flew up into the air. There was, however, one exception. A girl named Lucy had not gone along with the crowd. The teacher asks her why she has decided to be different. `Because I'm not a liberal Democrat.` Then, `asks the teacher, `What are you?` Why I'm a proud conservative Republican,` boasts the little girl. The teacher, a little perturbed and her face slightly red, asked Lucy why she is a conservative Republican. `Well, I was brought up to trust in myself instead of relying on an intrusive government to care for me and do all of my thinking. My Dad and Mom are conservative Republicans, and I am a conservative Republican too. `The teacher, now angry, loudly says, `That's no reason! What if your Mom was a moron, and your dad was a moron. What would you be then?` She pauses, and lets out a smile. `Then,` Lucy says, `I'd be a liberal Democrat.`

N.Y. dance law faces new challenge

Social dance fans in New York are planning a new challenge to a Prohibition-era law that bans social dancing without a cabaret license. The latest attempt failed when a state Supreme Court Appellate Division upheld dismissal of a suit charging the law limits free expression and violates due process guarantees, The Los Angeles Times reports. Requiring New York bars and restaurants to obtain a license before three or more patrons can dance stems from efforts to crack down on speak-easies and interracial Harlem jazz clubs in the 1920s. A spokesman for the city's law department says the statute remains on the books to protect residential communities. "In my view, underneath it all is the fact that there's always been a puritanical fear of social dance," says Paul Chevigny, a New York University Law School professor who represents the dance advocates. "It's a form of expression with the body and people are just afraid of that."

Cat Crap!

Every now and then, Tony (my son) pushes me over the edge, his anal retentive attitude and slob nature really confuses me at times. Aren't those contradictions of nature? Anyway, after a very continuous week of feeling bad (my ass hurts!) and his continual harping on stuff that doesn't matter, I had finally had my fill. And everyone knows, when I have idle time and a bad attitude, anything can and probably will happen.

Is there anyone who doesn't know I have three old cats, who's main function in life is to: Eat, Sleep and Crap. They are all house broken and would rather bust a kidney than take a crap in house. With that said, I got my pooper-scooper, rubber gloves and headed for the flower bed to extract my revenge on Tony. After shifting through a few yards of dirt, I found several preserved pieces of cat crap. (Please note I didn't say "well" preserved.)

Armed with nearly fresh cat crap, I called Tony to find out his schedule for tomorrow. The good news was he was schedule to appear in court for a presentation. The bad news, I was pissed and laying for him! Remember I said he was anal retentive, before he takes his morning shower, he will inspect his suit, tie, shoes, shirt and everything else he is to wear, "anal retentive".

So, I knew I had to wait for the appropriate time to strike. While he was taking a shower I slipped into his bedroom and hid under the bed, waiting for my moment to strike. He got out of the shower, spent thirty minutes combing his hair and flossing his teeth. Finally, I almost feel asleep waiting on him. I have to be talented and light fingered or else he would catch me and there would be Hell to pay. He got dressed, checked the cuffs on his pants and he was set to go. While he was straightening his tie and checking himself out. I slipped pieces of cat crap into his pants cuffs. While the odor wasn't overly bearing, it did occasionally present an "odorous aroma" at certain times. He stuck his head into my bedroom and announced he was living and if I needed anything to call.

A normal morning ritual, he didn't even bother to notice I wasn't in bed. Good!

Anyway, during his court appearance, the odor became stronger because of the air circulation and other environmental concerns in the court room. After a brief inspection, he did discover the cat crap and quickly excused himself from the court room. In a couple of days, I'll crawl out from under my bed and rejoin the world of the living, until then I know he won't find me.

Grey's Anatomy Information

Taye Diggs has been tapped to star in the Grey's Anatomy spin-off currently in the works. No details are available on his character. Grey's will set the stage for the spin-off, which will focus on Kate Walsh's character, Dr. Addison Shepherd, via an expanded two-hour episode scheduled to air in May in which Dr. Shepherd will consider an exit from Seattle Grace. Grey's writer and creator Shonda Rhimes is writing the episode and is expected to write the potential spin-off as well. You already figured out that that was Elizabeth Reaser playing the pregnant woman with the crushed face that Alex saved. In the coming weeks and months (Reaser's on board for at least nine eps), Alex's attachment to her will intensify. And if you thought Reaser's character had it rough last week, just wait. Another tragedy is about to befall poor Jane Doe.

Did I Mention My Ass Hurts?

This has been a wild month, between colon surgery and traveling, I'm having a hard time focusing and functioning at my normal energetic level. But, I'm managing.

A couple of weeks ago, my sister Rose Mary was visiting and we always have a good time, I'm talking a side splitting laughing good time. But, this particular day, she brought the grandkids. Which is okay, because they and I communicate quite well. "I'm Uncle Roy and I outweigh you 200 lbs and if you mess with me, I'll pop your head like a pimple." We have this understanding.

Anyway, we choose to go to a movie and spend the afternoon doing nothing productive. This particular theater we choose has arm rest that raise and lower between the seats in the auditorium. Anyway, being young and not paying attention, (you know how kids are?), I'm scooting behind Bubba down the aisle and we turn to take our seats, I should say we turn to plop down in our seats. Bubba thought he was being helpful and he lowered the arm rest. Theater seats are designed so that you have to shuffle and adjust your ass to sit in one. Anyway, I plop my ass down and sat square on the arm rest, I'm not a small man (my ass is boney), I weigh a hefty 225 pounds and my ass planted square on that arm rest. Have I mentioned I had colon surgery the week before? Anyway, the hard plastic arm rest, planted firmly between the cheeks of my ass, and caused a tear jerking pain. I was physically sick at my stomach it hurt so much. A grown man crying is not pretty.

It doesn't matter that last two doctors had their hands up my ass sewing me a new sphincter, I wasn't prepared for a arm rest to be shoved up my butt. To make a long painful story short, I returned to the doctor to check me out. He was impressed with the size of the bruise and being a wise-ass, he mentioned, "Oh, there's my watch, I wondered where I lost it"! NOT FUNNY AT ALL! Not Funny! Anyway, there was no permanent damage, other than a bruised ego. But, that was two weeks ago and my ass still hurts.

But, at yesterdays doctor appointments things were very good and he told me I'd have to live with a sore ass for a couple more weeks. Oh the humility of it all! Which is how my month started.

And you think you have problems?

Pam, a beautiful, well endowed young blonde goes to her local pet store in search of an exotic pet. As she looks about the store, she notices a box full of frogs. The sign says:

"Oral Sex" Frogs Only $20 each!

Money-Back Guarantee!
(Comes with complete instructions)

Pam excitedly looks around to see if anybody's watching her and she whispers softly to Ralph, the man behind the counter: "I'll take one", Ralph, packaging up the frog, says: "Just follow the instructions carefully." Pam nods, "Okay," grabs the box and is quickly on her way home.

As soon as she closes the door to her apartment, Pam takes out the instructions and reads them thoroughly, doing exactly what it says todo...

- 1) Take a shower
- 2) Splash on nice smelling perfume
- 3) Slip into a very sexy teddy
- 4) Crawl into bed, spread your legs and put the frog down "there"

She then quickly gets into bed and puts the frog between her legs and to her surprise, nothing happens! Pam is totally frustrated and quite upset at this point. She re-reads the instruction and notices at the bottom of the paper it says, "If you have any problems or questions, please call the pet store," so Pam calls. Ralph, the man behind the counter says, "I had some complaints earlier today, and I'll be right over."

Within five minutes, Ralph is ringing her doorbell. Pam welcomes him in and says, "See, I've done everything according to the instructions and the damn thing just sits there."

Ralph, looking very concerned, picks up the frog, stares directly into his eyes and sternly says, "Listen to me! I'm only going to show you how to do this one more time."

Brit’s Known For Ample Breast

British women are front and center ahead of their European sisters when it comes to cleavage a survey revealed. Bra maker “Triumph” said its research indicated more than half of the British female population boast a D-cup or larger while the majority of Italian and Australian women reach for A- and B-cup lingerie. Austrian women mostly wear B-cups as well, while in France, only a quarter of the bra wearing public can fill out the more ample D-cup. Denmark came in second right behind Britain while Austrians fell somewhere in the middle.

Urinal Cakes & Drunk Driving

SANTA FE, NM – NM transportation officials are attempting to curb the flow of drunken drivers by placing ‘talking urinal cakes’ in bar and restaurant bathrooms. The items, which still fulfill the urinal cake’s primary function, offer recorded messages to restaurant and bar patrons who may be considering driving while drunk, the Santa Fe New Mexican reported yesterday. State traffic safety chiefs have ordered 500 of the devices for placement in the state’s bar lavatories.

Seriously, I can’t make this stuff up! What does a urinal cake say? “Hey, how you hanging? Oh, I see! Have you been drinking? Drive carefully! See you later! Hang in there?” or how about, “You’d better see a doctor about that?”

Dept of Defense Lifts Restrictions

US Dept of Defense records show that the number of Army recruits with criminal backgrounds has risen 65 percent in the last three years.

The majority of ‘waivers’ were issued for serious misdemeanors including aggravated assault, burglary, robbery and vehicular homicide. Felony waivers also increased to encompass about 11 percent of the overall waivers.

Sex Scene Confessions

“His idea of a romantic kiss was to go “blaaah” and gag me with his tongue. He only improved once he married Demi Moore”. Cybil Shepard on Bruce Willis

“I enjoyed bumping up against it even thought it had black stuff all over it. By the end of the shoot I was covered in black goo”. Kim Bassinger being turned on by Michael Keaton’s Batman costume.

Those Crazy Criminals

In September 2006, robbers in Las Vegas held up a van thought to contain gambling chips, only to find that it was carrying potato chips instead.

In 2006, a guard was caught smuggling a wad of money in his underpants out of a bank in Atlanta, when the dye capsule exploded, blowing a hold in his trousers and injuring his ‘dangly parts’.

In 2006, a would be Texas grocery store robber tried to disguise his face with a balaclava, however, he failed to remove a laminated badge which bore his name, place of employment and position from his breast pocket.

Police had no difficulty catching a man who stole a barge on the River Thames. There was a dock strike on that day and his was the only craft moving.

The defense attorney for Tyrone Jerrols of Houston, TX, who was facing charges for murder, filed a motion to prevent the use of Jerrol’s nickname, claiming it would prejudice the jury. Jerrol’s nickname is “Hitman”.

Where’s there’s smoke, there’s pot!

Firefighters called to a Miami, FL home, because of a smoking electrical meter, broke through the garage to find a hydroponics marijuana growing operation. The illegal pot farmers had rigged the garage to take their power directly from a nearby pole. But it takes so much electricity to keep the operation going, the meter box got stressed and began to smoke, police told the Miami Herald. When police went through the house they found more than 50 2lb plants in various rooms. The hybrid plants had few seeds “and a tremendous amount of resins,” an undercover agent stated.

One 70-year old neighbor said he walked past the house daily but figured the acrid pot smell was coming from the garage but thought someone was merely puffing weed.

No one was home when the firefighters broke into the garage and no arrest have been made by Tuesday.

Church members get matching tattoos

A group of Florida church members hit a South Beach shop for matching tattoos, but the design they got -- 666 -- wouldn't appeal to some Christians. Members of the Growing in Grace congregation in Doral say 666 is a symbol for their prophet and church leader, Jose Luis De Jesus Miranda, who calls himself the Antichrist, the Miami Herald reported. About 30 members of the flock went for the tattoo. In Christian circles, 666 is considered a sign of Satan. "This (tattoo) is backing up what I truly believe," Alvaro Albarracin, told the newspaper. "It's like a brand. It's like a sign." Critics say Growing Grace is a cult and the tattoo outing just shows how much power the church's leader has over its members. But members of the church said DeJesus brings them spiritual fulfillment. DeJesus' church was small 20 years ago, but now it's a worldwide empire -- with 200 pastors, 287 radio shows, 335 education centers and a Spanish-language TV network, the Herald said.

I’ve told you, I’ve had a crazy month/week and it just got crazier when I went to work this week. Some of the old people and I were discussing the 666 sign and what it is suppose to mean, etc. etc.

I thought it was appropriate to fire up the old timers and tell them I had 667 tattoo on my arm. I started rolling up my sleeve to show them and they all piped up wanting to know why I had a 667 tattooed on my arm?

I had to explain to them, 667 – to show I live next to door. I guess you had to be there, I thought it was funny.

On the Road Again

Starting tomorrow after my doctor appointment “we” are hitting the road, hasn’t anyone noticed I’m tired and old, and my ass hurts? I guess not.

Anyway, our road trip is taking us to Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana. I want to get back to New York if time allows. We are sitting down with face to faces with the Governors and HUD offices to solidify our positions for grant money. BUT, we also have offers to attend the Texas Legislative Meeting and the State of Maine has invited to speak up there soon.

Illinois County Considers Bullet Tax

Officials in Cook County, Illinois are considering the creation of the first bullet tax in the United States. Comm. Roberto Maldonado says he wants to create a 10-cent per bullet tax to help balance the county's $500 million budget deficit, the Chicago Sun-Times reported. A large part of the county medical budget goes for treating gun shot victims

Coffee Facts

Advertisements for coffee in London in 1657 claimed that the beverage was a cure for scurvy, gout and other ills.

In Italy, espresso is considered so essential to daily life that the price is regulated by the government.

Large doses of coffee can be lethal. Ten grams, or 100 cups over 4 hours, can kill the average human.

Milk as an additive to coffee became popular in the 1680's, when a French physician recommended that café au lait be used for medicinal purposes.

Raw coffee beans, soaked in water and spices, can be chewed like candy.

Until the 18th century coffee was almost boiled.

When a coffee seed is planted, it takes five years to yield consumable fruit.

Golf Mistake

A guy walks into a doctors office with a 5 iron wrapped around his neck and 2 black eyes.

"What happened to you?" asked the doctor.

"Well it all started when my wife and I were golfing and by accident she hit the ball into a cow field. When we went to investigate, i saw the ball in a cows ass. I went and lifted the tail of the cow and that's when I made my mistake."

"What mistake was that?" asked the doctor.

" I said hey this looks like yours hon..!"

Things I've Learned

1 Never, under any circumstances, take a sleeping pill and a laxative on the same night.

2 If you had to identify, in one word, the reason why the human race has not achieved, and will never achieve, its full potential, that word would be "meetings".

3 There is a very fine line between "hobby" and "mental illness".

4 People who want to share their religious views with you almost never want you to share yours with them.

5 You should not confuse your career with your life.

6 Nobody cares if you can't dance well, just get up and dance.

7 Never lick a steak knife.

8 The most destructive force in the universe is gossip.

9 You will never find anybody who can give you a clear and compelling reason why we observe daylight savings time.

10 You should never say anything to a woman that even remotely suggests that you think she's pregnant unless you can see an actual baby emerging from her at that moment.

11 A person, who is nice to you, but rude to the water, is not a nice person. (this is very important)

12 There comes a time when you should stop expecting other people to make a big deal about your birthday. That time is age eleven.

13 Never be afraid to try something new. Remember that a lone amateur build the Ark. A large group of professionals built the Titanic.

The Priest and the Rooster

A priest was in his room and realized that his rooster was missing. He decided 2 bring it up in Sunday Mass. Right before the ceremony the priest asked, "Who has a cock?" all the men in the room stood up.

The priest said "NO, No, NO. Who has seen a cock?" all the woman in the room stood up.

The priest said "NO, NO, NO. Who has seen my cock?" All of the nuns stood up.

The Tattoo

A Girl gets two tattoos on her inner thighs: one of Mike Tyson on her right inner thigh and the other is of Evander Holifield on her left inner thigh. She points to them and asks the bartender "Does this look like Mike Tyson?" Bartender says "No."

She then asks "Does this look like Evander Holifield?" Bartender says "Nope sorry."

She's says "Well I want another opinion." She sees a drunk guy at the end of the bar. She points to her inner right thigh and asks him "Does this tattoo look like Mike Tyson?"

Drunk guy says "No."

She points to her inner left thigh and asks "Well does this tattoo look like Evander Holifield?"

Drunk guy says "No but the one in the middle looks like Don King."

Two Sailors and a Nun

A really short guy walks into a nunery and says to the chief nun, "Have you got any nuns in the nunery as short as me??" and the nun replied, "Er, no.....".

So he said, "Have you got any nuns in the whole world as short as me??" and the nun said, "Er, no.....".

His mate then said to him, "Sorry mate. I told you, you did it with a penguin".

Postage Rate Increase

News has been released that the US Postal Service will increase postal rates by 2 cents. Probably in 90 days.

Not to Bright

A guy walks in the bar totally pissed off from the two hours before. His hair soaked, and his knuckles beet red. He sits at the stool and orders the bartender to give him 3 shots of tequila.

"Alright now, sir, before you get an attitude with me, tell me what's the matter." The guy looks at the bartender and begins his story.

"Alright man, I was at the bar down the street and I was talkin' to this fine ass honey. And she was really feelin' me, ya'know?" The bartender looks confused and says "Yea...well, that doesn't sound so bad."

"Yea? Well let me finish. She asked if I wanted to go to her hotel room. Taken aback, I agreed. So I go to her hotel and fool around a bit. And I'm thinking I'm really scoring with this chick. In the midst of doing our "duty" we hear big footsteps coming down the hall.

Terrified the girl tells me she's sorry and that she has a boyfriend, but she'd be happy to leave him for me.

Agreeing with everything this girl is saying i agree to hide. So I'm running around this room, and the first place I think of hiding is under the bed, but then, no, thats the first place he'd look. Second, I think of hiding in the bathroom, but of course he'd look there. So, like the fool I am, I decide to dangle from the balcony as her angry boyfriend walks in.

I hear him ranting and raving about how he knows she's foolin around on him and that he'll hunt me down and kill me. So after a few loud noises the boyfriend mysteriously goes into the bathroom and I hear water running.

So, ya' know, I'm thinking this guys gonna take a bath. But then, he returns, and dumps scolding hot water over my head."

"Yea," the bartender says, "I'd be pissed about that too."

"No, I'm not finished. So when I finally think I've taken enough, still dangling from the window sill, the boyfriend, not nearly has had enough, slams the door over my knuckles five times till i scream..."

"Damn, the bartender says. "So that's why your pissed huh?"

"No, I'm not done."

"Well will you please just get to it?"

"Yea, I look down and I'm only two feet off the ground."

The Cowboys Continued

Since taking over as new head coach, Phillips has hired his son Wesley as offensive quality control and former Cowboys linebacker Dat Nguyen as an assistant linebacker coach and defensive quality control.

Phillips then hired veteran coach Ray Sherman to oversee the wide receivers. Sherman, who has 19 years of NFL coaching experience, spent the last two years in Tennessee after a five-year stint in Green Bay that included coaching Terry Glenn in 2002.

The Cowboys also hired John Garrett, the older brother of Jason Garrett, to coach the tight ends. John Garrett has spent the last three years at the University of Virginia, but has also coached wide receivers (1995-98) for the Bengals and served as the Cardinals' quarterbacks coach (1999-2000), before returning to Cincinnati to coach tight ends from 2001-02 and then work in the scouting department in 2003.

Later in the week, the Cowboys hired longtime Raiders running backs coach Skip Peete to coach the backs here in Dallas. Peete, the older brother of veteran quarterback Rodney Peete, had been with the Raiders the last eight years.

The Cowboys have just four coaches left from last year's staff under Parcells, including Sparano and Bowles. The Cowboys also have kept linebackers coach Paul Pasqualoni and defensive line coach Kacy Rodgers. The club decided not to retain Vincent Brown, who spent just one year with the team as the inside linebackers coach.

Hint

What the student wrote showed the professor that he had a good understanding of the material, thus the A.

Answer

The brilliant student wrote down: "This"

And handed in the paper. By doing this, the student demonstrated that he understood that having your grade based on one exam is risky. Plus, putting just one word on such an important exam and hoping the professor understands what he means is risky in and of itself!

Sherlock Holmes Mystery

One snowy night, Sherlock Holmes was in his house sitting by a fire. All of a sudden a snowball came crashing through his window, breaking it. Holmes got up and looked out the window just in time to see three neighborhood kids who were brothers run around a corner. Their names were John Crimson, Mark Crimson and Paul Crimson. The next day Holmes got a note on his door that read "Crimson. He broke your window." Which of the three Crimson brothers should Sherlock Holmes question about the incident?

Jones has said several times this off-season he wants Terrell Owens back on the Cowboys roster in 2007. Owens completely cleaned out his locker at Valley Ranch and removed his nameplate. However, he has also said he wants to return next year, and even called Wade Phillips to introduce himself last week.

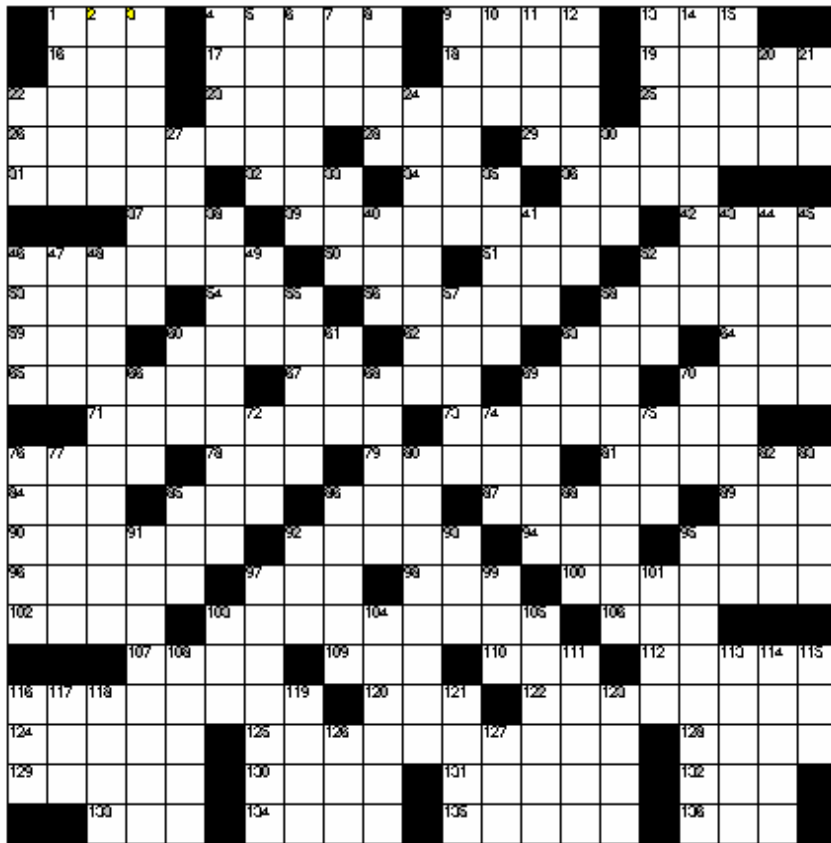

What do you think? Are you an Owens fan?

School House Mystery

As the school year was progressing, a teacher was distressed that more and more of her students were beginning to tease and make fun of one another. She decided to do something about it. When they returned to the classroom after Spring Break, they saw a mirror on the wall with a sign next to it. When one of the students came to her crying about the names she had been called at recess, she sent the girl to the mirror with these directions: Read that sign quietly to yourself. Repeat it over and over, gradually running the sounds together. Each time, look at yourself in the mirror. Soon you will be smiling. Sure enough, when the student followed these directions, she came away smiling. Each time a student would come to the teacher feeling low, she would give them the same directions. Sometimes they would have difficulty, so she would go over to read the sign with them. Eventually, each one would come away smiling. This is what the sign said: I.Y.Q.Y.Q.R.

Why did this little exercise help her students feel better about themselves? Page 5

What is Risk?

There was once a college that offered a class on probability applied to the real world.

The class was relatively easy, but there was a catch. There were no homework assignments or tests, but there was a final exam that would have only one question on it. When everyone received the test it was a blank sheet of paper with a solitary question on it: "What is risk?"

Most students were able to pass, but only one student received 100% for the class! Even stranger was that he only wrote down one word!

What did he write?

School House Mystery Hint

When read correctly, the message may sound like it is being said with a speech impediment.

Answer When the students read the letters out loud, running them together, and looking in the mirror, they realized that they were telling themselves, "I like you like you are!" It may not be perfect grammar, but the teacher reached her goal of building self-esteem in her students who had a low opinion of themselves because of teasing.

What is common?

- What are the answers to all these clues and what do those answers have in common?
1. An amber tinted paste used on a wienerwurst.
 2. A purple fruit
 3. Besides the number of days, the months of May and August have this in common.
 4. A finely feathered and polychromatic avian friend.
 5. A 7 letter word for a pigment like crimson.
 6. A bleached and neutral hue.

The Dallas Cowboy Report

Staff infection

His first week on the job was anything but dull. Cowboys head coach Wade Phillips said he would be busy putting together his staff, and he has been. Since taking over as coach, Phillips has hired his son Wesley as offensive quality control and former Cowboys linebacker Dat Nguyen as an assistant linebacker coach and defensive quality control. Phillips then hired veteran coach Ray Sherman to oversee the wide receivers and also hired John Garrett to coach the tight ends. The Cowboys then added longtime Raiders running backs coach Skip Peete to coach the backs here in Dallas.

Phillips has hired five new coaches this week, leaving the offensive and defensive coordinator positions, along with the special teams position, still vacant.

There is a chance his two coordinators are already on staff. Jason Garrett, the former Cowboys quarterback who was hired even before Phillips, is expected to handle most of the offensive coordinator duties, including play-calling. He currently does not have a coaching title, but it is expected he will serve as the coordinator and possibly even quarterbacks coach, which also has not been named. The Cowboys also have interviewed Wisconsin offensive coordinator Paul Chryst for a potential role on the staff.

Both Phillips and Cowboys owner and general manager Jerry Jones said this week the entire staff could be finalized sometime before next week.

And while Garrett is a choice for offensive coordinator, last year's secondary coach Todd Bowles might be the top choice to run the defense.

Bowles, a former player with the Redskins and 49ers for eight seasons, has spent the last two years coaching the Cowboys' defensive backs. He interviewed for the head coaching job during the first few days after Bill Parcells' retirement.

While he might not have been a serious candidate to become head coach, it sounds like he is still a leading candidate for defensive coordinator.

"Todd is very impressive," Jones said Thursday night. "Really very smart and has that experience as a player. That's important."

The Cowboys will also look for a new special teams coach after Bruce DeHaven, who was here the last four years, took a job in Seattle before Parcells retired. Coincidentally, DeHaven worked for Phillips in Buffalo and was fired after the 1999 season when the Bills lost to the Titans on a last-minute kickoff return for a touchdown, also known as the "Music City Miracle."
